

2022 TREMASI GRENACHE

SINGLE BARREL

On Red Mountain, Grenache plantings remain limited but increasingly focused. Southwest exposures, steady winds, and well-drained, loess-based soils over sand and gravel encourage even ripening, while dramatic day-to-night temperature swings preserve lift and fine tannin. These conditions reward careful farming and gentle extraction, yielding wines with red fruit purity, white-pepper spice, and a mineral finish. We are fortunate to work with thoughtfully chosen parcels on Red Mountain to let this place speak clearly in the glass.

The 2022 Single Barrel Tremasi Grenache was crafted from a single vineyard block within this iconic AVA. The winemaking team worked with the Tremasi vineyard crew to restrict yields, creating small, concentrated berries. Thoughtful canopy management and precise irrigation strategies were implemented. Cool fall nights preserved freshness while flavor continued to develop. The fruit was hand harvested in the early mornings throughout October.

At the winery, the fruit was hand sorted, with 80% destemmed and berry sorted, then layered over 20% whole-cluster fruit. The wine spent more than 30 days in tank for extended maceration before being barreled into 100% French oak (60% new). It was cellared for 20 months, and four barrels were selected and blended. Bottled unfined and unfiltered to ensure purity and vibrancy, only 95 cases produced. The final wine is 100% Grenache from clones 2 and 515.

“ The 2022 Single Barrel ‘Tremasi’ Grenache comes from this site managed by Damon LaLonde that is located on the south side of Red Mountain. On the nose this offers scorched earth and bay leaf notes alongside shades of sagebrush and bright red fruits. The palate is plush and deep with serious texture and weight.”
